EX PREMIER HITLER REICHSTAG BURNING AFTER FIRE ERNST THÄLMEIN

Denied official recognition by German authorities, the unofficial international committee of world-famous lawyers, including ex-Premier Nitti of Italy, Dr. Brunsing of Sweden, Arthur Garfield Hays of the United States, as well as British, French, Dutch and Swiss jurists, is holding its own independent inquiry in London into the case surrounding the burning of the Reichstag Building in Berlin last February. Ernst Thälmann, former Communist leader in the Reichstag, a Dutchman named Marinus Van der Lubbe, and three others are accused of the crime and are scheduled to go on trial at Leipzig within the next few weeks. Anti-Hitlerites charge the whole business, fire and plot, was framed by the Nazis as a propaganda feature and with the object of eliminating Thälmann from German politics.

TONE OF VIKING CHIEFTAIN

The tomb of a Viking chieftain, buried more than 1,000 years ago, was recently found at Langtangen, in the central part of Sweden. The find clearly showed the warrior was of high rank and furnished an interesting example of the burying customs of his day. He had been interred with full armor and with a fine sword evidently made in the south of England.

The sword hilt was decorated with silver ornaments, one of which some magic runes had been engraved.

MAKING LINERS COOLER

Canard Company Finds White Paint Reduces Temperature Many Degrees

The Canard Line has announced that the "Mauretania" has been so well received as an all-white cruising liner that they have decided to paint the liner "Franconia" white before the beginning of her world cruise next January.

H. P. Borer, general passenger manager of the line, said that engineers of the "Mauretania" had reported to him on a series of scientific observations taken on the "Mauretania" during cruises to the West Indies. They took similar readings last year on identical cruises and have reported that the liner is from seven to nine degrees cooler in her white dress.

"I didn't believe it at first," Mr. Borer said, "and thought it as just a stunt. But they produced the figures and scientific data to show that a white ship must be cooler than a black one. So I capitulated."

The "Mauretania" still one of the swiftest liners afloat despite her age of more than a quarter of a century, has proved popular in the cruise trade. On September 27 the ship will be sent to England for a month for reconditioning. In November the liner will be back again for a series of cruises to last until April.

SOUND CARRIES IN ARCTIC

In the Arctic regions people can talk to one another quite well when they are as much as a mile apart—the cold, dense air, and the smooth surface of the ice and snow both being helpful to the carrying of sound.
